1 I. INTRODUCTION

2 Plaintiffs respectfully seek Court approval of their $50 million non-reversionary cash settlement
3 with Apple. The Settlement provides automatic payments of at least $300 for individuals who had multiple 4 keyboard repairs. Those who were unsatisfied with a single repair can recover up to $125. The Settlement
5 also ensures the availability of free keyboard repairs through the first four years after purchase. Class
6 Counsel also seek an award of fees and costs, and service awards for the class representatives. Plaintiffs 7 submit this reply in further support of the motions, to respond to a handful of objections, and to update the 8 Court on notice and claims administration.

9 The overwhelmingly positive reaction to the settlement confirms that final approval is warranted
10 and the requested awards are reasonable. Since the Court granted preliminary approval in December 2022, 11 the Settlement Administrator has emailed or mailed the notice directly to approximately 99% of the 12 Settlement Class as identified by Apple. Supplemental Declaration of Jennifer Keough (“Keough Decl.”), ¶
13 4. Only six of the approximately 15 million class members objected, and a negligible percentage opted out.
14 Id. ¶ 14.

15 The objections give no reason to doubt the fairness of the Settlement, notice program, or requested
16 attorneys’ fees. The objections are largely directed to grievances outside the allegations in this case, such as 17 complaints about the extent of publicity surrounding Apple’s Keyboard Service Program (“KSP”) or the 18 inconvenience of returning a laptop for warranty service. Objectors also make generalized complaints about 19 the sufficiency of consideration without acknowledgment of any of the downsides of continuing this 20 litigation through trial. Three objectors would prefer the Settlement compensate class members who never 21 brought in their laptops for repair. But compensating every member of the class without regard to their 22 keyboard experience would please no one, as the fund would be dissipated on small distributions and 23 injured class members would be left without adequate compensation. The last objection raises—in his own
24 words—“minor technical quibbles” with the notice in the hope of improving future class notice procedures.
25 None of these objections raises any doubt about the fairness of the Settlement or the application for fees,
26 expenses and service awards.

1 II. ARGUMENT

2 A. The Settlement Is Fair, Reasonable, Adequate, and Being Responsibly Administered.

3 By any measure, the Settlement has been remarkably well-received. Class members who 4 experienced multiple repairs will be paid using Apple’s records, without any need to make a claim—an 5 effective claims rate of 100%. See SA § 3.4.3.1. For Group 2 and 3 Claimants, the parties estimate
 6 approximately 718,651 Class Members are eligible, and there are 81,683 claims—a claims rate of 7 approximately 11%. Keough Decl., ¶ 17. See Carlotti v. ASUS Computer Int’l, 2020 WL 3414653, at *4
 8 (N.D. Cal. June 22, 2020) (4.02% claims rate was reasonable where “only class members who experienced 9 a defect can recover under the Settlement”). There is no indication class members have encountered any 10 difficulty in making claims or getting help if they need it, and the high claims rate and the positive overall 11 response to the Settlement confirm that the Settlement is fair and reasonable. See Fraser v. Asus Comp.
 12 Int’l, 2013 WL 359594, at *2 (N.D. Cal. July 12, 2013) (“[T]he large number of class members wishing to 13 participate in the settlement is evidence that the settlement is reasonable and should be approved.”).

14 The very low number of objections and opt outs relative to the large size of the class weighs in favor
 15 of approving the Settlement. See In re Google Plus Profile Litig., 2021 WL 242887, at *4 (N.D. Cal. Jan.
 16 25, 2021) (approving settlement with 761 objections out of millions of class members); Sadowska v.
 17 Volkswagen Grp. of Am., Inc., 2013 WL 9600948, at *5 (C.D. Cal. Sept. 25, 2013) (opt-outs were 0.2% of 18 the class).¹ In addition, many Class Members have contacted Class Counsel to express their appreciation for 19 the results achieved on their behalf. See Supplemental Joint Declaration of Simon S. Grille and Steven 20 Schwartz (“Suppl. Joint Decl.”), ¶ 5.

21 B. The Objections Lack Merit and Should Be Overruled.

22 Six Class Members have objected to the Settlement. “[T]hat there is some opposition does not 23 necessitate disapproval of the settlement; rather, the court must evaluate whether the objections suggest 24

25 _____
 26 ¹ On February 15 the Court granted the parties’ stipulation to provide direct notice to a small group of 27 31,000 class members. Dkt. No. 442. Those class members have until March 10 to object, until March 15 to 28 opt out, and until March 31 to file claims. Id. As of March 6 none had objected and only two had opted out.
 Keough Decl., ¶ 13.

1 serious reasons why the proposal might be unfair.”² Corzine v. Whirlpool Corp., No. 15-CV-05764-BLF,
 2 2019 WL 7372275, at *7 (N.D. Cal. Dec. 31, 2019) (citation omitted). No objection seriously challenges
 3 the adequacy of the Settlement consideration or procedures, and “these generalized objections are 4 insufficient to bar final approval.” Pan v. Qualcomm Inc., 2017 WL 3252212, at *10 (S.D. Cal. July 31, 5 2017). In addition, three of the objectors—Jennifer Yellin, Kyle Kavanagh, and John A. Hawkinson—did
 6 not comply with the requirement to provide sufficient information to verify their status as Class Members.
 7 See SA § 5.4.3. The Court can overrule these objections on that basis. See Seifi v. Mercedes-Benz USA,
 8 LLC, 2015 WL 12964340, at *4 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 18, 2015) (overruling objections “for failing to comply 9 with the requirements”). Plaintiffs address the substance of the six objections below.

10 1. The Settlement Consideration Is Adequate.

11 The $50 million settlement will pay owners of 2015 to 2019 MacBooks who experienced multiple 12 repairs at least $300 and up to $395. These payments will be distributed automatically, without the need for 13 claim procedures. Other MacBook purchasers who were dissatisfied with a single repair can file claims, for 14 up to $50 or $125 depending on the significance of the repair. Based on the volume and type of claims
 15 received thus far, JND projects that the final payments made to Class Members who file a valid claim will 16 be at least $300 for Group 1 Class Members, $125 for Group 2, and $50 for Group 3. Keough Decl., ¶ 18.

17 Objectors Loepp and Kavanagh assert that the settlement consideration is insufficient, without 18 explaining why, given the ongoing KSP, a payment of at least $300 for repeat repairs and up to $125 for a 19 single repair would be insufficient. Neither addresses the downsides of continued litigation. Dkt. Nos. 428, 20 439. The Court has found that the compensation provided under the Settlement appears to be adequate (Dkt.
 21 No. 426 at 6-7), and these objectors’ opinions do not detract from that conclusion. See, e.g., In re Netflix
 22 Priv. Litig., 2013 WL 1120801, at *12 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 18, 2013). Because any settlement is inherently a 23 compromise, “the mere fact that the benefits provided under the settlement agreement will not make all 24 class members ‘whole,’ and/or the possibility that a ‘better’ settlement might have been reached, do not”
 25 justify withholding approval. Asghari v. Volkswagen Grp. of Am., Inc., 2015 WL 12732462, at *26 (C.D.
 26

27 ² The objectors are Cody Loepp (Dkt. No. 428), James Finney (Dkt. No. 436), Leslie Parker (Dkt. No. 437), 28 Jennifer Yellin (Dkt. No. 438), Kyle Kavanagh (Dkt. No. 439), and John A. Hawkinson (Dkt. No. 443).

1 Cal. May 29, 2015); see Aarons v. BMW of N. Am., LLC, 2014 WL 4090564, at *12 (C.D. Cal. Apr. 29,
2 2014) (“The Court is conscious that the settlement will not make most Class members completely whole.
3 But that is the nature of a settlement.”).

4 The payments Class Members are eligible to receive under the Settlement well exceed the level of 5 compensation provided in other similar consumer product defect cases. See Dkt. No. 431 at 20-21. Neither 6 objector explains why these payments are inadequate and “simply wanting a more favorable settlement is 7 not a sufficient basis for an objection to a class action settlement that is otherwise fair, adequate, and 8 reasonable.” Vargas v. Ford Motor Co., 2020 WL 1164066, at *11 (C.D. Cal. Mar. 5, 2020). These 9 “general objections stem from these objectors’ assumption that the case assured certain victory for 10 Plaintiffs.” In re Washington Pub. Power Supply Sys. Sec. Litig., 720 F. Supp. 1379, 1394 (D. Ariz. 1989), 11 aff’d sub nom. Class Plaintiffs v. City of Seattle, 955 F.2d 1268 (9th Cir. 1992); cf. Dkt. No. 426 at 7 (this 12 Court noting risks of continued case prosecution). The objections also fail to “account for the . . . expense, 13 complexity, and likely duration of further protracted litigation.” Hendricks v. StarKist Co., 2016 WL
14 5462423, at *6 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 29, 2016).

15 Mr. Loepp states that his laptop problems “had an incalculable cost to my company’s success.” Dkt.
16 No. 428 at 1. But expecting a class action to compensate consequential damage for a product failure is not 17 realistic: “It is not reasonable to expect the Settlement to compensate every Class Member for every 18 consequential damage related to the defective” product. Corzine, 2019 WL 7372275, at *9; see also 19 Herrera v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., 2021 WL 9374975, at *8 (C.D. Cal. Nov. 16, 2021) (“The Court finds 20 that these generalized objections based on personal preferences do not call into question the adequacy of the 21 settlement for the class.”). Courts thus overrule objections seeking reimbursement for individual hardships.
22 See, e.g., Corzine, 2019 WL 7372275, at *8 (rejecting objection that demanded compensation for 23 “inconvenience, time and effort”); Nwabueze v. AT & T Inc., 2013 WL 6199596, at *7 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 27, 24 2013). To the extent Mr. Loepp is suggesting that he or other Class Members should receive a new 25 replacement laptop for their troubles, that expectation also is unreasonable, as even Class Members who 26 experienced multiple keyboard issues still received value from their laptops, and the value of the laptops
27 decreases over time. See Skeen v. BMW of N. Am., LLC, 2016 WL 4033969, at *9 (D.N.J. July 26, 2016)
28 (rejecting similar objection). If Mr. Loepp wished to seek consequential damage or a full refund, he had the

1 option to exclude himself from the settlement class. See Trew v. Volvo Cars of N. Am., LLC, 2007 WL
2 2239210, at *3 (E.D. Cal. July 31, 2007).

3 Mr. Loepp points to the Consumer Bill of Rights, but “the Consumer Bill of Rights is not a federal 4 law” and falling short of the aspirational goals of the Consumer Bill of Rights does not make a settlement
5 inadequate. Wilkerson v. Butler, 2005 WL 2219267, at *3 (E.D. Cal. Sept. 9, 2005). Mr. Loepp also notes
6 that a company of Apple’s size and resources could pay more, but “[o]bjections that the settlement fund is 7 too small for the class size, or that a defendant should be required to pay more . . . while understandable, do
8 not take into account the risks and realities of litigation, and are not a basis for rejecting the settlement.” In 9 re Cap. One Consumer Data Sec. Breach Litig., 2022 WL 18107626, at *8 (E.D. Va. Sept. 13, 2022) (citing 10 Linney v. Cellular Alaska P’ship, 151 F.3d 1234, 1242 (9th Cir. 1998)).

11 Based on a YouTube video showing a breakdown of the butterfly keyboard, Mr. Kavanagh
12 maintains that the Settlement is inadequate because “the keys will never be fixed.” Dkt. No. 439. The cited 13 video is not competent evidence, however. See Provident Precious Metals, LLC v. Nw. Territorial Mint,
14 LLC, 117 F. Supp. 3d 879, 899 n.55 (N.D. Tex. 2015) (YouTube video was “hearsay and inadmissible”).
15 Like the other objectors, Mr. Kavanagh overlooks that Apple has vigorously defended itself throughout the 16 case and denied that the butterfly keyboard-equipped laptops are defective, and therefore establishing its 17 liability at trial posed a tremendous risk to the Class. See In re Yahoo! Inc. Customer Data Sec. Breach
18 Litig., 2020 WL 4212811, at *14 (N.D. Cal. July 22, 2020). In addition, Apple’s non-admission of liability 19 does not render the Settlement unfair. See Carter v. Forjas Taurus S.A., 2016 WL 3982489, at *12 (S.D.
20 Fla. July 22, 2016) (explaining that “an admission of wrongdoing is not required for settlement approval” 21 and requiring such an admission would make it far less likely that a defendant would be willing to settle),
22 aff’d, 701 F. App’x 759 (11th Cir. 2017).

23 2. The Settlement Reasonably Targets Relief to the Class Members Most 24 Affected by the Alleged Defect.

25 Objectors Parker, Finney, and Yellin note that the Settlement only provides monetary compensation
26 to Class Members who received Topcase and Keycap Replacements while excluding those who did not 27 bring their computers in for repair. Dkt. Nos. 436-38. Yet any “settlement involves some line-drawing” and 28 it is reasonable to provide monetary compensation to those whose keyboard problems were severe enough

1 to require them to obtain a repair. Milligan v. Toyota Motor Sales, U.S.A., Inc., 2012 WL 10277179, at *7
2 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 6, 2012); see also Alin v. Honda Motor Co., 2012 WL 8751045, at *12 (D.N.J. Apr. 13, 3 2012) (noting that “[t]iered relief is common in class action settlements”).

4 Limiting monetary payments to Claimants who received Topcase Replacements or Keycap
5 Replacement ensures that Settlement funds will be devoted to Class members who were harmed by the 6 alleged defect. See Chess v. Volkswagen Grp. of Am., Inc., 2022 WL 4133300, at *7 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 12,
7 2022) (“This is a reasonable and objective standard meant to aim the settlement benefit at those most likely 8 to have experienced the alleged defect”); see also Shin v. Plantronics, Inc., No. 18-CV-05626-NC, 2020
9 WL 1934893, at *5 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 31, 2020). The plan of allocation also responds to the reality that Class
10 Members who did not bring their laptops in for a repair would have had difficulty proving damages at trial.
11 See Aarons, 2014 WL 4090564, at *13; In re TD Ameritrade Acct. Holder Litig., No. C 07-2852 SBA, 2011
12 WL 4079226, at *9 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 13, 2011).

13 Moreover, the Settlement ensures that every Class Member will receive the full benefit of the KSP
14 for four years. This period is significantly longer than the one-year warranty for the laptops. See In re:
15 Sears, Roebuck & Co. Front-Loading Washer Prod. Liab. Litig., 2016 WL 772785, at *11 (N.D. Ill. Feb.
16 29, 2016). Although Mr. Finney and Ms. Yellin claim they were unaware that Apple was offering free 17 repairs under the KSP, the program has been ongoing for several years, thousands of class members have 18 used it, and the KSP affords all the relief available under Apple’s written warranty.

19 Mr. Kavanagh objects to the “proof of repair” requirement because some may have discarded their 20 repair records, and he asserts that consumers can only search Apple’s records for a period of 90 days. Dkt.
21 No. 439. But anyone who appears in Apple’s records as having obtained one or more qualifying repairs will 22 have no need to search for records because they will receive either an automatic payment or a claim form
23 pre-populated with their repair information. SA §§ 3.3.5-3.3.6. For those who do not appear in Apple’s 24 records, the documentation requirement is reasonable and necessary to guard against fraudulent claims.
25 Chess, 2022 WL 4133300, at *7 (providing compensation only for repairs performed “is an industry
26 standard meant to avoid subjective, and possibly unverifiable, claims”). “[C]ourts frequently approve 27 settlements that require class members to submit receipts or other documentation; they conclude such a
28 requirement is reasonable and fair given the defendant’s need to avoid fraudulent claims.” Asghari, 2015

1 WL 12732462, at *29.

2 3. The Notice Program Meets All Applicable Standards.

3 John A. Hawkinson filed an objection with the goal of providing “higher quality” notices in future
 4 consumer class actions. Dkt. No. 443 at 2. He states that his objection “is not, principally, a merits
 5 objection” and that he is seeking to use “this forum to raise minor technical quibbles[.]” Dkt. No. 443 at 2-
 6 3. Mr. Hawkinson does not claim that he did not receive the Notice, and he understands the objection
 7 procedure and how to use CM/ECF. He therefore lacks standing to object to these aspects of the notice plan
 8 on behalf of other unspecified class members. See Fisher v. Tucson Sch. Dist. No. One, 625 F.2d 834, 837
 9 (9th Cir. 1980) (to have standing, “the established threat of injury must be personal” so a party “may not 10 raise the rights of others”) (citing Warth v. Seldin, 422 U.S. 490, 499 (1975)). In any case, while Plaintiffs
 11 appreciate Mr. Hawkinson’s efforts to improve the Class Notice in consumer class actions, his critiques do 12 not provide a basis for denying final approval.

13 Mr. Hawkinson argues that (1) the short form notice does not provide a case number or the case 14 caption; and (2) the long form notice does not provide the docket number in “close proximity.” Dkt. No.
 15 443 at 3. The email notice, however, is a summary that directs Class Members to the Settlement website
 16 containing more detailed information and the long form notice. The website prominently lists the case
 17 number and caption, which are also repeated in the Frequently Asked Questions section as well as in the 18 court documents available on the website. As the Court noted at the preliminary approval hearing, it is 19 important to be concise with email notice, and the parties achieved that goal while also providing more
 20 extensive information in the long form notice posted publicly on the Settlement website. See 11/3/22 Hr’g
 21 Tr. at 32:9-34:10.

22 Mr. Hawkinson also states that while his “expectation” is that a class action settlement website will 23 include all the case documents, the Settlement website only posts 11 out of the more than 400 documents on 24 the docket. Dkt. No. 443 at 4. But the purpose of the Settlement website and notice program is to provide 25 sufficient information for Class Members “to be able to make an informed decision as to whether to opt-out 26 or stay in the class[.]” Nguyen v. BMW of N. Am. LLC, 2012 WL 1677054, at *2 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 20, 2012).
 27 “Notice is satisfactory if it ‘generally describes the terms of the settlement in sufficient detail to alert those 28 with adverse viewpoints to investigate and to come forward and be heard.’” Churchill Village, LLC v. Gen.

1 Elec., 361 F.3d 566 (9th Cir. 2004) (citation omitted). Mr. Hawkinson points to securities class actions in 2 which most of the case documents were made available, yet settlement websites in consumer and other non-
3 securities class actions typically provide only the most relevant documents for Class Members (such as the 4 operative complaint and the papers in support of preliminary, final approval, and the motion for attorneys’
5 fees and costs). See, e.g., Perkins v. LinkedIn Corp., 2016 WL 613255, at *8 & n.8 (N.D. Cal. Feb. 16,
6 2016); Cottle v. Plaid Inc., 340 F.R.D. 356, 378 (N.D. Cal. 2021). Because the notice and Settlement
7 website provide Class Members with sufficient information about the Settlement, this objection should be
8 overruled. See Perkins, 2016 WL 613255, at *8 n.8 (“Any interested party could thus determine the basis
9 for preliminary approval . . . [T]he Settlement Website told Class Members how to access the entire case
10 file, and how to contact Class Counsel.”).

11 The long form notice informs Class Members that in addition to U.S. mail, they can file their 12 objections electronically. According to Mr. Hawkinson, this is “misleading” because, realistically, only 13 objectors who retain counsel will be able to file their objections electronically through CM/ECF and Class
14 Members could have been misled into thinking they can easily file an objection at the last minute. Dkt. No.
15 443 at 4. Nonetheless, directing Class Members to either file their objections electronically or through mail
16 is common and in fact is suggested by the Northern District’s Procedural Guidance for Class Action
17 Settlements (No. 5 under “Preliminary Approval”). See, e.g., Morrison v. Ross Stores, Inc., 2021 WL
18 3852726, at *22 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 27, 2021); Miller v. Ghirardelli Chocolate Co., 2014 WL 4978433, at *8
19 (N.D. Cal. Oct. 2, 2014). Considering the other objections were received by mail and then posted online, 20 Class Members have been able to express their views on the Settlement. Also, because any objection by 21 mail needs only to be postmarked by the objection deadline, a Class Member who decides to submit an 22 objection on the last day would still have had the chance to do so. Thus, informing Class Members that they 23 have the option of filing an objection electronically does not detract from the fairness of the Settlement.

24 Mr. Hawkinson, “a journalist who regularly deals with PACER and CM/ECF” (Dkt. No. 443 at 2-25 3), disapproves of the costs associated with using PACER. E.g., id. at 3 (noting that individual consumers
26 may have to pay significant fees to access the docket). This case obviously is not unique in relying on 27 CM/ECF, and legislative efforts have been made to address the costs of using PACER. On December 8, 28 2020, the House of Representatives approved and sent to the Senate a bill that would make the federal

1 courts' PACER electronic case-filing system free for most citizens. See Open Courts Act of 2020, H.R.
2 8235, 116th Cong. (2019–20).

3 Mr. Hawkinson also finds it “puzzling” that the Settlement does not direct that any leftover funds be 4 distributed pro rata to claimants and “speculate[s]” that the “estimates of potential claimants are high and 5 that there may be significant unclaimed funds.” Dkt. No. 443 at 6 n. 6. The Settlement Agreement does 6 provide for additional rounds of payments to Class Members, up to the individual caps, if the first round of 7 payment does not exhaust the fund. SA §§ 3.4-3.5. Given the automatic payments for Group 1 claimants
8 and the user-friendly claims process for Groups 2 and 3, only a de minimis residual due to uncashed checks
9 is likely to remain. The volume of claims received to date, combined with the two-year Reserve Period for 10 future Group 1 Class Members, make any significant residual unlikely. And in any event, Class Counsel
11 believe it is more advantageous to the Class to leave open what happens to any leftover funds for further 12 negotiation instead of just agreeing to an automatic cy pres distribution.

13 C. The Court Should Approve Plaintiffs' Request for Attorneys' Fees and Costs.

14 Class Counsel seek an attorneys' fees award of $15,000,000 and reimbursement of litigation
15 expenses in the amount of $1,562,887.58.³ Class Counsel's fee request is reasonable for the reasons
16 previously expressed. See Dkt. No. 431 at 9-21. Although it does not expressly oppose the request, Apple
17 filed a response pointing out that the Court has the discretion not to depart from the benchmark. Dkt. No.
18 440. Notably, Apple does not take issue with Class Counsel's reported lodestar or deny that the requested 19 fee represents a negative multiplier on the lodestar. Nor does Apple dispute that the litigation was protracted 20 and difficult and that the Settlement constitutes an excellent result for the Class—factors that weigh in favor
21 an upward adjustment from the benchmark. Apple also cannot and does not deny that a 30% fee will ensure 22 counsel are not penalized for investing the time necessary to pursue litigation to the eve of trial and secure
23 an adequate settlement in the face of its staunch defense. In short, Apple has not rebutted Plaintiffs'
24 showing that the requested fee is reasonable and consistent with fees approved in other similar cases. See
25 Fitzhenry-Russell v. Coca-Cola Co., 2019 WL 11557486, at *8 (N.D. Cal. Oct. 3, 2019) (“Plaintiffs' fee
26

27 ³ After the filing of their fee motion, Plaintiffs incurred additional litigation expenses in the amount of 28 $3,796.83. See Suppl. Joint Decl., ¶ 7. Plaintiffs submit an updated Proposed Order with this Reply Brief.

1 request amounts to 30% of the monetary value of the settlement. Although that is slightly greater than the 2 benchmark of 25%, the award is nonetheless reasonable.”).

3 The result obtained and the reaction of class members, the risks and complexity of the case, the 4 quality of opposing counsel, the five years it took to secure a favorable outcome, and the level of skill
5 required to prosecute the case and negotiate the settlement all support awarding the requested fee. See, e.g.,
6 Bower v. Cycle Gear, Inc., 2016 WL 4439875, at *7 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 23, 2016) (awarding attorneys’ fees of 7 30% where “the risks of litigation were substantial”); Wallace v. Countrywide Home Loans, Inc., 2015 WL
8 13284517, at *9 (C.D. Cal. Apr. 17, 2015) (noting factors reflecting counsel’s skill, such as developing the 9 facts and legal claims, conducting discovery, reviewing documents, retaining experts, engaging in motion
10 practice, and negotiating and drafting the settlement); In re Heritage Bond Litig., 2005 WL 1594403, at *20 11 (C.D. Cal. June 10, 2005) (“There is also no dispute that the plaintiffs in this litigation were opposed by 12 highly skilled and respected counsel with well-deserved local and nationwide reputations for vigorous 13 advocacy”).

14 No Class Member objected to Class Counsel’s fee request. Mr. Loepp, without objecting to the fee 15 request, reflexively complains that counsel will receive the “lion’s share” of the recovery. Dkt. No. 428. But 16 the Court is not being asked to approve a recovery for Mr. Loepp only, coupled with a $15 million fee to 17 Class Counsel. Mr. Loepp is one of many millions of class members. Because Class Counsel seek an award
18 of 30% of the settlement fund for their efforts and Class Members will collectively receive the rest (less 19 litigation expenses), the notion that attorneys will receive the lion’s share of the Settlement fund is 20 mistaken. And Mr. Loepp’s “generalized quarrels with the law regarding such fees and awards in class 21 action settlements, the processes used to calculate such fees, and whether the fees and awards are justified . .
22 . ignore the well-established Ninth Circuit law regarding attorneys’ fees[.]” Asghari, 2015 WL 12732462, at 23 *30.

24 That no Class Member has voiced any formal disagreement with the requested awards supports an 25 upward adjustment to the benchmark and further demonstrates that the fee request is reasonable. See Jarrell
26 v. Amerigas Propane, Inc., 2018 WL 1640055, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 5, 2018) (“[T]he Court now concludes 27 that a slight upward adjustment—to 30% of the common fund—is warranted based on several factors, 28 including the results achieved, the risk of non-recovery, and the fact that no class member has objected to

1 the proposed award.”). As with the fee request, the Class Members’ favorable response to the Settlement
2 also confirms that the requested $5,000 service awards for each Plaintiff are reasonable and should be
3 approved. See Smith v. Experian Info. Sols., Inc., 2020 WL 6689209, at *7 (C.D. Cal. Nov. 9, 2020).

4 Therefore, the Court should grant the requested awards.

5 III. CONCLUSION

6 For all these reasons and the reasons stated in Plaintiffs’ Motion for Final Approval and Motion for 7 Attorneys’ Fees, Expenses, and Service Awards, the Court should enter the [Proposed] Final Approval
8 Order and Judgment and award attorneys’ fees in the amount of $15,000,000, reimbursement of litigation
9 expenses in the amount of $1,562,887.58, and service awards of $5,000 to each of the Class
10 Representatives.

DECLARATION OF SIMON S. GRILLE
AND STEVEN A. SCHWARTZ IN SUPPORT OF FINAL APPROVAL AND
ATTORNEYS' FEES, EXPENSES, AND SERVICE AWARDS

 24 Judge: Hon. Edward J. Davila
 25 Date: March 16, 2023
 26 Time: 9:00 a.m.
 Courtroom: 4 – 5th Floor

1 We, Simon S. Grille of Girard Sharp LLP, and Steven A. Schwartz of Chimicles Schwartz
2 Kriner & Donaldson-Smith LLP, declare as follows:

3 1. Simon S. Grille is a partner of Girard Sharp LLP (“Girard Sharp”) and one of the 4 attorneys of record for Plaintiffs and the Class in this litigation. Mr. Grille submits this declaration in 5 support of Plaintiffs’ Motions for Final Approval of Class Action Settlement and for Attorneys’ Fees,
6 Reimbursement of Litigation Expenses, and Service Awards. He submits this declaration based on 7 personal knowledge, and if called to do so, could testify to the matters contained herein.

8 2. Steven A. Schwartz is a partner of Chimicles Schwartz Kriner & Donaldson-Smith LLP
9 (“CSKDS”) and one of the attorneys of record for Plaintiffs and the Class in this litigation. Mr.
10 Schwartz submits this declaration in support of Plaintiffs’ Motions for Final Approval of Class Action
11 Settlement and for Attorneys’ Fees, Reimbursement of Litigation Expenses, and Service Awards. He 12 submits this declaration based on personal knowledge, and if called to do so, could testify to the 13 matters contained herein.

14 3. For convenience, Girard Sharp and CSKDS are referred to in this Declaration as “Class 15 Counsel” or “we.”

16 4. On May 11, 2018, Class Counsel filed a class action complaint against Apple Inc.
17 alleging that MacBook laptops equipped with a “butterfly keyboard” contain a defect that causes the 18 keys to become unresponsive or stop correctly registering keystrokes when small particles of dust or 19 debris accumulate beneath them.

20 5. Numerous Class Members have expressed their appreciation for the results achieved by 21 the Settlement in emails and phone calls. For example, one Class Member wrote “This is incredible!
22 I’m truly stunned. I feel proud to have been a part of this. Thanks for all the work you’ve done.”
23 Another wrote, “Appreciate your work on this and helping us.” Another wrote, “[I] am very happy that 24 there has been legal action taken to address this unfortunate difficulty.” And another wrote, “Just 25 wanted to say thank you for doing this!” Others provided similar remarks.

26 6. We have responded to approximately 3,000 calls and emails and addressed the questions
27 of each Class Member who contacted us. The only objections we are aware of are the six that appear 28 on the record.

7. Class Counsel's expenses through December 31, 2022 are set forth in the Joint Declaration of Simon S. Grille and Steven A. Schwartz in Support of Plaintiffs' Motions for Final Approval of Class Action Settlement and for Attorneys' Fees, Reimbursement of Litigation Expenses, and Service Awards (Dkt. No. 432). Since December 31, Class Counsel have incurred an additional $3,796.83 in unreimbursed costs and expenses ($1,122.24 for Girard Sharp and $2,674.59 for CSKDS), bringing Class Counsel's total unreimbursed expenses to $1,562,887.58.¹ These additional costs and expenses, which are itemized in the chart below, were reasonably and necessarily incurred in furtherance of the prosecution of this case, were advanced by Class Counsel on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Class, and have not been reimbursed. They are reflected in the books and records of our respective firms, which are prepared from expense vouchers, check records, invoices, and other source materials, copies of which will be made available upon the Court's request. Third-party expenses are not marked up, meaning that the firms request reimbursement only for the amount actually billed by the third party. The total unreimbursed costs incurred since December 31, 2021 are the following:

Previously Reported Expenses	Additional Girard Sharp Expenses	Additional CSKDS Expenses	Total Expenses
$1,559,090.75	$1,122.24	$2,674.59	$1,562,887.58

8. The additional expenses fall into the following categories:

Additional Expense Category	Amount
Court/Filing Fees	$605.30
Professional Fees (e.g., experts, consultants, etc.)
Air Transportation	$1,879.81
Ground Transportation
Meals

Case No. 5:18-cv-02813-EJD-VKD

[PROPOSED] ORDER GRANTING PLAINTIFFS' MOTION FOR ATTORNEYS'

[PROPOSED] ORDER GRANTING PLAINTIFFS' MOTION FOR ATTORNEYS' FEES, REIMBURSEMENT OF LITIGATION EXPENSES, AND SERVICE AWARDS
CASE NO. 5:18-cv-02813-EJD-VKD

1 Plaintiffs’ Motion for Attorneys’ Fees, Reimbursement of Litigation Expenses, and Service
2 Awards came on for hearing before this Court on March 16, 2023. The Court, having considered the 3 briefing and materials submitted in support of the motion, the briefing and materials submitted in support
4 of Plaintiffs’ Motion for Preliminary Approval and Motion for Final Approval, the relevant legal 5 authorities, the record in this action, and the arguments presented at the hearing, and having determined
6 the fairness and reasonableness of the award of attorneys’ fees, expenses, and service awards requested,
7 hereby ORDERS as follows:

8 1. The Court has jurisdiction to enter this Order and over the subject matter of this action
9 and over all parties to the action, including Plaintiffs, Defendant Apple, Inc., and all Class Members.

10 2. Plaintiffs’ Motion seeks an award of attorneys’ fees in the amount of $15,000,000, which 11 is 30% of the $50,000,000 non-reversionary settlement fund. Class Counsel¹ also request reimbursement
12 of their out-of-pocket litigation costs of $1,562,887.58 and service awards of $5,000 for each of the 12
13 Class Representatives.

14 3. Where Class Counsel’s efforts have helped create a common fund, the doctrine of unjust
15 enrichment entitles them to reasonable attorneys’ fees from the fund. See Staton v. Boeing Co., 327 F.3d
16 938, 967 (9th Cir. 2003) (“the common fund doctrine ensures that each member of the winning party
17 contributes proportionately to the payment of attorneys’ fees”); Boeing Co. v. Van Gemert, 444 U.S.
18 472, 478 (1980). Courts in the Ninth Circuit have discretion in a common fund case to choose either the 19 percentage-of-the-fund or lodestar method to determine reasonable attorneys’ fees. See Vizcaino v.
20 Microsoft Corp., 290 F.3d 1043, 1047 (9th Cir. 2002). “Using either method, the ultimate inquiry is 21 whether the end result is reasonable.” In re Capacitors Antitrust Litig., No. 3:14-CV-03264-JD, 2018
22 WL 4790575, at *2 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 21, 2018). The percentage method is preferred when there is a
23 common fund for the benefit of the class. Roe v. SFBSC Mgmt., LLC, No. 14-CV-03616-LB, 2022 WL

28 ¹ Girard Sharp LLP and Chimicles Schwartz Kriner & Donaldson-Smith LLP.

1 fixed common fund of $50 million. Destefano v. Zynga, Inc., No. 12-cv-04007-JSC, 2016 WL 537946,
2 at *17 (N.D. Cal. Feb. 11, 2016).

3 4. In applying the percentage of the fund method, the Ninth Circuit has established 25% as 4 a benchmark percentage, which may be adjusted depending on the circumstances of a case. Vizcaino,
5 290 F.3d at 1047. To assess whether a requested fee percentage is reasonable, courts consider: “(1) the 6 result achieved; (2) the risk involved in the litigation; (3) the skill required by and quality of work
7 performed by counsel; (4) the contingent nature of the fee; and, (5) awards made in similar cases.” Id.
8 at 1048-50. Each of these factors weigh in favor of an upward adjustment from the benchmark in this 9 case to 30%, which is within the usual range in common fund cases. Id. at 1047.

10 5. The $50 million common fund constitutes an excellent result under the circumstances of 11 this case. See Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 436 (1983) (noting “the most critical factor is the 12 degree of success obtained”). The settlement entitles Settlement Class Members to cash relief from 13 keyboard issues for the four-year useful life of a laptop, in addition to guaranteeing the protections of 14 Apple’s Keyboard Service Program. Every Class Member who has experienced multiple repairs will 15 automatically receive payments of $300—and they may receive as much as $395—while Class
16 Members who obtained only one unsatisfactory repair will receive as much as $125. These results
17 compare favorably to other product defect cases, including cases against Apple. See, e.g., In re Apple
18 iPhone 4 Prod. Liab. Litig., No. 5:10-MD-2188 RMW, 2012 WL 3283432, at *1 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 10, 19 2012) (providing class members cash payments of $15); Grace v. Apple, Inc., No. 17-CV-00551-LHK
20 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 22, 2019), Dkt. No. 429 at 18 (initial payments of $3); In re Magsafe Apple Power
21 Adapter Litig., No. 5:09-CV-01911-EJD (N.D. Cal.), Dkt. Nos. 238, 247 (paying $35 to $79 for class 22 members who received replacement power adapters); iPod Nano Cases, Case No. BC342056 (Los 23 Angeles Super. Ct.) (paying between $15 to $25 for iPod nano owners); see also, e.g., Horvath v. LG 24 Electronics MobileComm U.S.A., Inc., Dkt. No. 101 (S.D. Cal. Jan. 14, 2014) (approving settlement of 25 $19 per claimant in class action alleging smartphones had a defect).

26 6. The substantial risk Class Counsel took on in connection with the litigation and the high 27 level of skill required to achieve a successful result also support an upward adjustment. See Durham v.
28

1 Sachs Elec. Co., 2022 WL 2307202, at *8 (N.D. Cal. June 27, 2022) (approving upward adjustment
2 based on factors including the risk and difficulty of the case). The settlement was reached after more
3 than four years of extensive litigation. Defendant vigorously defended itself throughout the course of 4 the case, filing multiple motions to dismiss, Daubert motions, opposing class certification, and filing a
5 Rule 23(f) petition with the Ninth Circuit. AdTrader, Inc. v. Google LLC, No. 17-CV-07082-BLF, 2022
6 WL 16579324, at *7 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 1, 2022) (33% fee award justified by “substantial risk” and results);
7 Martinelli v. Johnson & Johnson, No. 2:15-CV-01733-MCE-DB, 2022 WL 4123874, at *9 (E.D. Cal.
8 Sept. 9, 2022) (33.3% award justified based on contingent risk assumed by counsel in case involving 9 “extensive discovery” and “contested motion practice”).

10 7. Class Counsel’s lengthy representation was risky and carried out on an entirely contingent 11 basis. Bellinghausen v. Tractor Supply Co., 306 F.R.D. 245, 261 (N.D. Cal. 2015) (“When counsel takes 12 cases on a contingency fee basis, and litigation is protracted, the risk of non-payment . . . justifies a 13 significant fee award.”). Class Counsel was opposed throughout by skilled and respected counsel for 14 Defendant, resulting in substantial and difficult litigation, discovery, and settlement negotiations. See
15 Andrews v. Plains All Am. Pipeline L.P., 2022 WL 4453864, at *3 (C.D. Cal. Sept. 20, 2022) (“Class 16 Counsel’s ability to get the case this far along evinces their high quality of work.”).

17 8. The requested 30% award is on par with similar cases and consistent with this Circuit’s 18 applicable law regarding percentage-based fee awards. See Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1047; In re:
19 Volkswagen “Clean Diesel” Mktg., Sales Pracs., & Prod. Liab. Litig., No. 15-MD-02672-CRB, 2022
20 WL 17730381, at *11 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 9, 2022) (“[C]ourts in this Circuit often award fees at or exceeding 21 30 percent, and such awards are routinely upheld.”) (citing Hernandez v. Dutton Ranch Corp., No. 19-22 cv-817, 2021 WL 5053476, at *6 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 10, 2021)); see, e.g., In re Lenovo Adware Litig., No.
23 15-MD-02624-HSG, 2019 WL 1791420, at *8 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 24, 2019) (awarding 30%); Hendricks v.
24 Starkist Co., No. 13-CV-00729-HSG, 2016 WL 5462423, at *12 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 29, 2016) (same).

25 9. The Court has confirmed the reasonableness of the 30% fee request by conducting a 26 lodestar cross-check which shows that the requested fee will not result in an undeserved windfall for 27 Class Counsel. See Peel v. Brooksamerica Mortg. Corp., No. SACV-1179 JLS (RNBx), 2015 WL
28

1 12745788, at *7 (C.D. Cal. April 6, 2015); Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1050. Class Counsel’s lodestar as of 2 December 31, 2022 is $16,777,146.65 and does not account for ongoing work performed after this date
3 or the work performed in the related Huey v. Apple action. An award of 30% or $15 million amounts to 4 a negative multiplier of 0.9. See In re DRAM Antitrust Litig., No. C 06-4333 PJH, 2013 WL 12387371,
5 at *12-13 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 5, 2013) (observing that a negative multiplier “is virtually sufficient to satisfy
6 the cross-check requirement”). Thus, the lodestar cross-check further supports the reasonableness of the 7 award. See, e.g., Rosado v. Ebay Inc., No. 5:12-CV-04005-EJD, 2016 WL 3401987, at *8 (N.D. Cal.
8 June 21, 2016).

9 10. The Court finds the hourly rates of Class Counsel to be reasonable and within the market
10 rates for this district for counsel of comparable expertise. See, e.g., Fleming v. Impax Lab ’ys Inc., 2022
11 WL 2789496, at *9 (N.D. Cal. July 15, 2022) (approving rates of up to $1,325 for partners). The Court
12 further finds the number of hours expended reasonable based on the work performed in the case as set
13 forth in the joint declaration of Class Counsel, the necessity and reasonableness of that work to achieving 14 the excellent result, and the novelty and complexity of this litigation.

15 11. For the foregoing reasons, the Court concludes that Class Counsel are entitled to a fee 16 award in the amount of $15,000,000 or 30% of the $50,000,000 non-reversionary settlement fund.

17 12. The Court further finds that the Class Counsel have incurred $1,562,887.58 in reasonable
18 costs and expenses in this matter. These costs and expenses were reasonably incurred in the ordinary 19 course of prosecuting this case and were necessary given the complex nature of this matter and because 20 Apple contested liability from the outset of the case. Accordingly, the Court orders these litigation
21 expenses reimbursed from the fund. See Floyd v. First Data Merch. Servs. LLC, No. 5:20-CV-02162-22 EJD, 2022 WL 6173122, at *6 (N.D. Cal. Oct. 7, 2022) (“Class counsel is entitled to reimbursement of 23 reasonable out-of-pocket expenses.”).

24 13. The Court also approves a service award of $5,000 to each of the 12 Class Representatives 25 in this matter. These awards are proportional to the recoveries for absent class members under the 26 settlement. The awards are supported by the record in this case, the joint declaration of Class Counsel
27 and by the declaration submitted by each of the Class Representatives. The payment is further justified 28

1 by the time and effort spent by the class representatives on this matter on behalf of the Class; the duration
2 of this matter; and the other factors set forth in their supporting declarations, as well as the results
3 achieved in the case. See, e.g., In re Zoom Video Commc'ns, Inc. Priv. Litig., 2022 WL 1593389, at *12
4 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 21, 2022) (approving $5,000 awards).
